GET BUSY FOR STREET OILING

There seems to be some slight misunderstanding in regard to street oiling this summer and those who filed a petition last year are under the impression that it is not necessary to file a new petition this year. This is not so, as under the ordinance passed by the common council last year it is necessary to file a new petition this year. Blanks may be obtained from either the street superintendent at his office in the city hall or from Mayor Canfield at his office, 53 John Street.

Those who file petitions first will be served first and streets will be oiled in the order petitions are received. As it takes some time to secure the oil all property owners who wish to have the street in front of their property oiled should file a petition as soon as possible.

There seems to be some slight misunderstanding in regard to street oiling this summer and those who filed a petition last year are under the impression that it is not necessary to file a new petition this year. This is not so, as under the oiling ordinance passed by the common council last year it is necessary to file a new petition this year. Blanks may be obtained from either the street superintendent at his office in the city hall or from Mayor Canfield at his office, 53 John street.

Those who file petitions first will be served first and streets will be oiled in the order petitions are received. As it takes some time to secure the oil all property owners who wish to have the street in front of their property oiled should file a petition as soon as possible.

AMICABLE ENDING OF LABOR TROUBLE

The labor difficulties on the new high school, as related in another column of The Freeman, will undoubtedly be amicably settled as the result of the conference held early this afternoon between Mayor Canfield and George T. Kelly, who has the contract. Mr. DeWitt and Superintendent Michael of the board of education were also present at the conference. Mr. Kelly stated that he was entirely willing to comply with the law in regard to an eight hour day on municipal work and that he always made it a point to treat his men working under him right. He also stated he wanted to employ as much home labor on the job as possible and also pay the prevailing rate of wages.

The conference was the outcome of a complaint lodged with Mayor Canfield by the laborers on the job stating that they were forced to work nine hours a day instead of eight hours.

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION VOTE

According to the figures collected by the New York Times of the vote on the constitutional convention at Tuesday's special election, Ulster county stands second in the size of majority against it.

From the figures collected, Oneida heads the list with a majority of 4,675 against the convention. Ulster comes second with a majority of 3,372 against; Albany county comes third with 3,306 majority against; Steuben is fourth, with a majority against the convention of 2,444; and Otsego, with a majority against it of 2,178, is fifth.

The Times table shows a total of 115,682 votes in favor of the convention, and 134,253 votes against it, giving a majority in the state in favor of it 10,571. From some of the counties the vote is estimated, and on vote is given in The Times table from four counties, the four being Herkimer, Madison, Nassau and St. Lawrence. Only estimated majorities are given by The Times for those counties.

The Times says in the state in 1913 was 7,111,473, so that only about one-sixth of the people voted on the question on Tuesday.

Governor Glynn has issued a statement in which he says:

"This vote shows that the people of the state believe that the constitution should be revised, and that political parties should keep their platform pledges. The fact that the people voted for a convention showed that the Democrats were right in claiming that the people wanted the constitution revised at the earliest possible moment."

The Times asks additionally:

"Is it possible that Gov. Glynn can have kept a straight face while he was saying, writing or dictating the statement that the vote cast on the Constitutional Convention question on Tuesday plainly shows that the people desire a revision of the Constitution?"

9886.—A Practical and Pleasing House or Home Dress—Ladies' House Dress (In Raised or Normal Waistline) With Long or Shorter Sleeve.

Black and white checked gingham, with facings of white linen is here shown. The design would be pretty in figured lawn or dimity, or in a neat percale pattern. For serviceable wear it would look well in gray or blue striped seersucker, with collar, cuffs and facings in contrasting color. For afternoon or porch wear, there are many dainty materials, also linens and ruffles, that will lend themselves admirably to this style. The pattern is cut in 7 sizes: 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure. It requires 5 1/2 yards of 40 inch material for a 34 inch size. The skirt measures 1 1/2 yard at the foot, in a medium size.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents in silver or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Rondout, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

9886.—A Practical and Pleasing House or Home Dress—Ladies' House Dress (In Raised or Normal Waistline) With Long or Shorter Sleeve.

Black and white checked gingham, with facings of white linen is here shown. The design would be pretty in figured lawn or dimity, or in a neat percale pattern.

For serviceable wear it would look well in gray or blue striped seersucker, with collar, cuffs and facings in contrasting color. For afternoon or porch wear, there are many dainty materials, also linens and ratines, that will lend themselves admirably to this style. The pattern is cut in 7 sizes: 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure.

It requires 5 1/4 yards of 40 inch material for a 34 inch size. The skirt measures 1 1/2 yard at the foot, in a medium size.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents in silver or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Rondout, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Catalogue Notice.

Send 10 cents in silver or stamps for our up-to-date 1914 Spring and Summer Catalogue, containing over 400 designs of Ladies', Misses' and Children's Patterns; also a concise and comprehensive article on dressmaking, giving valuable hints to the home dressmaker.

FAMOUS WINTERS IN PARIS.

Once Every River In France Was Ice and Every Mill Idle.

Recalling famous winters in France, the Paris Petit Journal says that "the fifteenth century might justly be called the cold century."

"In 1408 the registrars of the parliament of Paris reported that it was impossible to issue any of its resolutions because the ink froze in the ink bottles of the clerks. Every three words they had to thaw their pens, and this with a fire roaring in their room. Every river in France was frozen, and not a mill could work. Twelve years later, in 1420, there was a repetition of this winter. Foodstuffs gave out, and poor people died by tens of thousands."

"In 1422 in less than three days the wine and the vinegar froze in the cellars; cocks and hens had their combs frozen; the streets were full of people who danced, jumped, wrestled and ran races, anything to keep off frost-bite."

"In 1430 it froze for more than two and a half months, and the snow fell for forty days without stopping. All the birds hidden in the trunks of trees died."

"In 'the year of the great winter,' as 1603 was called, hundreds of persons died from cold. Everything was frozen hard, even the bread served at the table of Henry IV. In 1709 all the wheat was destroyed, and a new sowing had to be made in the spring. Buffon relates that no bread was to be had. Even Mme. de Maintenon had to go without it."

"In 1776 sentinels were found frozen to death outside Versailles, and the king put a stop to this service. In Paris great bonfires were lit in the streets. Bells were shattered into pieces as they rang, clocks stopped and in the cellars wine turned into ice. Hares and partridges came into the towns and hid themselves in the nooks and corners of houses, where they were subsequently found as stiff as a board and quite inedible."

HUNTING THE CARIBOU.

Curiosity Often Lures the Watchful Animal to Its Fate.

In hunting the caribou quietness is essential. Never break a twig if you can avoid it, for a cracking branch makes a noise which carries far and may give warning of your approach to the very stag you particularly want. Equally important is it to keep a sharp lookout at all times, especially when entering a barren, where a stag may be sleeping, for under such conditions they are hard to see. Among the numerous gray dead stumps and moss covered low trees the color of the caribou is so inconspicuous that the untrained eye will fail to detect the animal even at close range. The first intimation will be a glimpse of a disappearing patch of white as the caribou vanishes into the woods.

All these things considered, the caribou of Newfoundland is not as alert as any other deer that I know of and is therefore more readily approached. There is, of course, great variation among them, some being extremely alert and difficult to stalk, while others are so absurdly tame that they will allow a man to walk right up to within a few yards, before taking flight. Curiosity is often a noticeable failing with them. When once it is aroused they will go to almost any length to satisfy it. I do not, however, advise the hunter to count too much on it, for the very thing which you imagine will tempt this curiosity will as likely as not frighten them away. Sometimes a strange noise will make them very inquisitive, and they will come within a few feet to find out what it is. Then, occasionally, a white handkerchief will have the same effect.—A. Radcliffe Dugmore in "The Romance of the Newfoundland Caribou."

Misleading Bookkeeping.
Even bookkeeping is not an exact science. For behold! how often is it that one man will put into the expense account a given expenditure—say, the rebuilding of a machine—thus reducing his profits by this amount, while another will put such an item to the asset account, and each can advance weighty arguments and reasons as to the logic of his methods. But the net results of operation will differ widely with the same actual occurrences, so that even bookkeeping may be said merely to present results dependent upon the aspects of the situation as rendered by those who have the authority or opportunity to interpret.—Benjamin A. Franklin in Engineering Magazine.

Points of the Crescent Moon.
Why does the moon sometimes appear with points turned upward and at other times downward? There is one cause only—the rotation of the earth. If the moon rises with points turned upward then, when it sets, the points must turn downward—that is, the western horizon meets the points in its apparent approach; they point toward it, apparently downward, in the western sky.—New York American.

Upward Revision.
"When first I consulted you about my eyes you told me it would cost 10 francs, but your bill is for 100 francs."
"That only shows the excellence of my treatment. Now you are ten times better."—Paris Pele Mele.

COUNTY FARM AGENT'S DUTIES

County agricultural agents are sometimes referred to as "county advisers." This implies a misunderstanding of the real work of the agent. Advisory work is a part of the agent's duties, but is a minor part. The county agricultural agent has about half a dozen principal functions:

1. He studies the agriculture of the county to learn what is being done and what is worth while agriculturally in each part of it. This study includes farm financial and organization surveys.
2. He gives the results of his studies to farmers, not in the way of advice, but as facts observed and conclusions drawn. This is done through the local press, lectures, institutes, circulars, short courses and personal interviews.
3. Based on these local studies and the ascertained needs of the county, clubs, associations and the like are organized and the individuals solicited to undertake definite lines of agricultural improvements on their own farms. Organizations are also formed for co-operative buying and marketing and the standardization of farm products.
4. He endeavors to coordinate all existing agricultural agencies within the county, so that all may work untriedly and efficiently.
5. He develops local leadership. The task of improving the agriculture of an entire county is so stupendous that the agent must primarily an administrator. He must inspire and accent the help of voluntary assistants in work.
6. He gets at the connecting link between scientists and the research institutions of the state and nation and the farmer, presenting the results of investigations in such a way that the farmer can use them, and calling attention of scientists to the local agricultural problems of the county and soliciting their assistance.
7. He gives advice. This may relate to spraying, seed treatment, mixing fertilizers, combating insect pests, cultural practices, or other miscellaneous matters which are the stock in trade of every well-informed agent. The giving of advice is seventh on the list, because in actually improving the agriculture of the county it is probably of least importance, though in point of time it may be the first work undertaken.

FIELD OF SPORTS.

Paris, April 9.—M. Hennion, prefect of police today forbade the holding of the proposed boxing tournament for women to decide the world's championship. Many protests were received by the department of police against the proposed tournament on the ground it would foster brutality among women. A number of female boxers had given notice of their intention to participate.

Washington, April 9.—Manager Griffith today picked 23 players for the invasion of the east by the Senators which starts Saturday night when the men go to Providence. Nine pitchers are in the squad and Johnson is slated to open the campaign.

London, April 9.—There was a marked shift today in the betting odds on the outcome of the British amateur golf championship as a result of the remarkable practice work of Francis Ouimet, the American open champion over the links at Deal and Sandwich. A week ago English betters were offering 2 to 1 that no American would win or be runner up but today the odds on the same proposition dropped to 7 to 5.

MENKE'S DAILY SPORTING LETTER

(By Frank G. Menke.)

New York, April 9.—"If the majority of the existing field and track records for amateurs are not broken in San Francisco in 1915, I'll be a very much disappointed and mistaken individual," declared James E. Sullivan, secretary of the Amateur Athletic Union, and the man who will have charge of the athletic end of the Panama Exposition next year.

"The way the entries are coming in now indicates that about 10,000 athletes will take part in the different events," added Sullivan. "These men will be among the very best of their class in the entire world. Practically every nation or any size will have men entered in the different contests, and the meet in Frisco will be second in importance only to the Olympic meet. It wouldn't surprise me if it would excel even the last two Olympic meets in the size of entries and record-breaking events."

"America, of course, will trot forth the best athletes in the land. And so will the foreign nations. The boys from across the water certainly ought to do even better than they did in 1912 and in 1908 because they will have had the benefit of the expert teaching of the great European nations have signed up to act as coaches for their squads."

"The marathon race, which will be run September 25, and which, of course, will be the highest feature of the meet, ought to be a whirlwind affair. I haven't any idea just now as to the number of men that will be entered in the event, but it wouldn't surprise me if it went far over 100. And those fellows will be among the very best distance runners in the world."

"I feel absolutely certain now that a series of seven games between the All-Star teams of the American and National Leagues will be one of the athletic features. As I have said before, I have secured consent from the presidents of both leagues to go ahead with the plan, but there is no real hurry about that. I'll get down to cases on that about the end of this year, or some time next spring."

The entire proceeds from these games, after deducting all legitimate expenses, will be split among the players. Sullivan figures that with people at the exposition from all parts of the world, the games ought to draw capacity crowds each day. He previously declared that it was his idea, backed up by the exposition officials, to charge only the regular big league prices for admission.

"Even with these prices prevailing," said Sullivan, "each player ought to draw down a handsome sum."

The difference between a tall end club and a pennant contender, as regards Washington, seems to be Walter Johnson. Over in Procy Wilson's town they figure that with the Speed King on the shelf, the club would have a mighty job keeping out of the cellar, while with Johnson on the firing line at regular intervals the Senators have more than an even chance of landing near the top of the American League heap this season.

That's one of the reasons why the Senators, a short time back, insured Johnson's right wing for $100,000. They figure that they stand to lose that amount—and more—if the Idaho wonder busts, mangles or otherwise injures his wonderful whip.

Frank Chance, boss of the Yankees, has demonstrated that he's the best little house cleaner that ever managed a ball club. When Chance took hold of the Yankees last spring he found himself possessed of about 35 ball players. Of that small army only six remain and it's possible that one or two will be cast adrift before this season is over. The six are Catcher Sweeney, Infielder Hartzell and Pitchers Warhop, Caldwell, Schulz and Keating.

Leach Cross, dentist and fighter, of New York, U. S. A., may change his address to Los Angeles, which is in U. S. A. also. Leach declared when leaving New York for his fight in Los Angeles, that he liked the California climate so much that he might make Los Angeles his future home.

An "Inside Picnic."

The Fair Street Reformed Church Sunday school will introduce an innovation in this city on Wednesday, April 22, when the members will hold an "inside picnic" in the lecture room of the church. The picnic will open at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, when a program of games for the children will be given under the direction of Fred Van Elten. At 6 o'clock a basket luncheon will be served, and from 7 to 8 a fairy story entitled "The Wonderful Adventures of Nils," beautifully illustrated by the stereopticon, will be given. From 8 o'clock on games for the older folks will be enjoyed.

Dr. Holla Will Rest.

The Rev. C. A. Holla has returned from the Methodist conference in New York city and will have charge of the prayer meeting this evening in the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church. Dr. Holla, owing to ill health, asked to be retired for one year, and is succeeded at the Clinton Avenue Church by the Rev. George M. Cranston, who will preach at the church services on Sunday. Dr. Holla and his family will make their home on a farm back of Peekskill.

Typhoid in Newburgh.

Twelve cases of typhoid fever and one death from that cause are reported in Newburgh. The disease has been traced to an ice cream factory and the city health officer has ordered the factory closed.

Diamond Architecture

We are just evolving from the "Dark Age of Diamond Jewelry," when stones were set grossly in their plain holdings, with no attempt at architecture.

Today, however, Art is "creeping out from under," and everywhere we see efforts toward the Beautiful in Diamond Jewelry.

We have in our cases many rarely individual pieces, created into Lavallieres, Bar Pins, Breast Pins, Empire Rings and what not.

In some instances the settings are exclusively of Diamonds, in others Diamonds are contrasted with Rubies, Sapphires and Emeralds.

COUNTY FARM AGENT'S DUTIES

County agricultural agents are sometimes referred to as "county advisers." This implies a misunderstanding of the real work of the agent. Advisory work is a part of the agent's duties, but is a minor part. The county agricultural agent has about half a dozen principal functions:

1. He studies the agriculture of the county to learn what is being done and what is worth while agriculturally in each part of it. This study includes farm financial and organization surveys.

2. He gives the results of his studies to farmers, not in the way of advice, but as facts observed and conclusions drawn. This is done through the local press, lectures, institutes, circulars, short courses and personal interviews.

3. Based on these local studies and the ascertained needs of the county, clubs, associations and the like are organized and the individuals solicited to undertake definite lines of agricultural improvements on their own farms. Organizations are also formed for co-operative buying and marketing and the standardization of farm products.

4. He endeavors to coordinate all existing agricultural agencies within the county, so that all may work untidily and efficiently.

5. He develops local leadership. The task of improving the agriculture of an entire county is so stupendous that the agent must be primarily an administrator. He must inspire and accent the help of voluntary assistants in work.

6. He acts as the connecting link between scientists and the research institutions of the state and nation and the farmer, presenting the results of investigations in such a way that the farmer can use them, and calling attention of scientists to the local agricultural problems of the county and soliciting their assistance.

7. He gives advice. This may relate to spraying, seed treatment, mixing fertilizers, combating insect pests, cultural practices, or other miscellaneous matters which are the stock in trade of every well-informed agent. The giving of advice is seventh on the list, because in actually improving the agriculture of the county it is probably of least importance, though in point of time it may be the first work undertaken.

Diamond Architecture

We are just evolving from the "Dark Age of Diamond Jewelry," when stones were set grossly in their plain holdings, with no attempt at architecture. Today, however, Art is "creeping out from under," and everywhere we see efforts toward the Beautiful in Diamond Jewelry. We have in our cases many rarely individual pieces, created into Lavallieres, Bar Pins, Breast Pins, Empire Rings and what not. In some instances the settings are exclusively of Diamonds, in others Diamonds are contrasted with Rubies, Sapphires and Emeralds.

INFORMAL HEARING ON LIGHTING RATES

An informal hearing will be held before the public service commission at Albany on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock in regard to the petition filed by Mayor Canfield calling for an investigation of the Kingston Gas and Electric Company. The hearing will be attended by Mayor Canfield and representatives of the electric company and the entire matter will be talked over to ascertain what can be done.

On March 4, Mayor Canfield filed the petition with the public service commission asking that not only the quality of the gas and electricity supplied but also the company's method of transmitting gas and electricity. The petition called attention to the fact that the snow storm early in March completely paralyzed the service causing the company to shut off its power, leaving the city in entire darkness. The mayor also requested that the company's contract with the city be investigated.

ated, as Kingston was paying at least $45,000 a year for street lighting. The charge made by the company for gas and electricity was also asked to be investigated and the cost of gas and electricity in other cities was stated in the petition. If the matter can be satisfactorily settled at the informal hearing the chances are that no public hearing will be held.

Church of the Redeemer.

It has been the custom for centuries past in the Lutheran Church to observe Good Friday by special services. Special services will be held in the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Friday morning at 10:30. The holy communion will be celebrated. Services in the evening at 7:45. The holy communion will be celebrated at this service also.

The service on Easter Sunday morning will begin at 10 o'clock instead of 10:30. There will be the regular service with the Easter sermon, and the holy communion. In the evening the Bible school celebrate Easter by singing special Easter carols. Special music appropriate to the day will be sung by a large choir both morning and evening.

The confirmation class will receive their first communion on Easter morning.

"A WOMAN'S WAY."

Nourishing Drink.
If you oversleep and the good man of the house does not have time to eat his breakfast, make him a generous cup of coffee and add to it a beaten egg and plenty of cream. He can drink this in one minute and will scarcely miss his breakfast. People often have egg drinks at soda fountains, but seldom think of preparing them at home.

Meaning of Bronze Horses' Heads.
Equestrian statues on the battlefield of Gettysburg all follow a general rule which sculptors have adopted as an arbitrary convention. If two feet of the horse are in the air the rider was killed. If one foot is lifted from the ground the rider was wounded. If all four feet are planted on the pediment then it signifies that the subject of the statue was not hurt.

KINGSTON, N. Y., APRIL 9, 1914.

Advocates of woman suffrage who are necessarily disgusted with the support given by Chicago women to the notorious "Bath House" Coughlin are trying to comfort themselves and "save their face" by referring to the fact that sixteen counties in Illinois which have heretofore been "wet," voted "dry" Tuesday. They attribute this to the female vote. There is no way to produce proof either one way or the other, but the theory is greatly weakened by the fact that on the same day seventeen "wet" counties in Nebraska went "dry." This went Illinois one better, and women do not vote in Nebraska. If one really wants to argue from such silly premises, he must reach the conclusion that men alone are slightly more favorable to prohibitive legislation than are men and women combined.

The fair political weather of the Wilson administration's first year seems to have been a storm breeder. Tuesday's special elections in the Seventh New Jersey and the Twelfth Massachusetts congressional districts are regarded as stinging rebukes to the administration, which will surely be followed by the election of a Republican House of Representatives. The psychological effect of these elections will naturally be to strengthen the backbone of the anti-Wilson forces in Congress. This change of feeling will be exhibited when the treaty just negotiated between the United States and Colombia comes up for ratification. The treaty virtually apologizes to Colombia and pays that country $25,000,000 indemnity on the ground that the secession of Panama was instigated by President Roosevelt. We don't know whether the Colonel was guilty or not. He says he wasn't, but he also said once that he "took" the canal zone, whatever that may mean. Anyhow, the official branding of a former President of the United States as a thief and filibuster will not be accomplished without a sizable row.

Additional returns show that the majority in favor of the Constitutional Convention was much smaller than appeared at first. It is now evident that it would have been beaten overwhelmingly but for the influence of Boss Murphy, who felt that he was fighting for his political life. The same result would have been achieved if the newspapers and political leaders throughout the rural sections of the State had taken as much interest in the issue as The Freeman did. After all, the election was carried by the use of money. Murphy had plenty of it with which to pay workers, while the other side had no campaign fund. This is the weak point of the initiative as well as of the referendum. The ordinary man will sign almost any petition if he is asked to do so by hired canvassers, and the same man will not take the trouble to go to the polls unless some hired promoter urges him. Consequently, the side able to hire the greatest number of agents will win in most cases. It is a ghastly joke that devices calculated to enable rich men to thwart the popular will find their principal advocates among professed friends of the "peepul."

President Wilson's "watching and waiting" policy in Mexico has run against another snag. Seven hundred Spanish subjects exiled by Villa have already arrived in Texas, and many hundreds more will follow them just as soon as that chieftain can catch them. Secretary Bryan sent a "telegram of inquiry" to Carranza and received a reply saying that "Gen. Villa is perfectly justified in his action in driving out these obnoxious persons, and his act is in accordance with our laws." This is about as impudent as could well be. The law provides that "pernicious foreigners" may be deported, just as they may be from all countries, but it is legally necessary to first prove the charge of perniciousness. The Spanish Government and people are naturally enraged over this matter, but they are not in a position to do anything about it, any more than Great Britain was in the Benton case. The impression is growing that Huerta is about the whitest man of prominence in Mexico, in spite of all his faults. The initial folly of refusing to recognize him is having the result of creating rancor throughout the civilized world against the United States.

PROTECTION TO BIRDS.

(By Our Woman Editor.)

Within the past year or two a very decided tendency has been shown toward an effective movement to protect the bird life of America.

It has been indicated by rigid national laws designed to save migratory wild fowl and plumage birds and in other ways, all showing a public and private awakening in behalf of the feathered creatures of the air and the tree tops.

For the first time, two states, Arkansas and Oklahoma, set aside the third day of this month as "Bird day," and from one end of those states to the other concerted effort was made to arouse big and little citizens alike to the beautiful truth that protection offered to birds means not only more money in the coffers of farmers and so on to the rest of folk, but more kindness in human hearts.

In schools, particularly, lessons upon love and sympathy for the shy, sweet little songsters were taught, together with more practical instruction upon the economic relations of bird to man. Children were shown how bread cast upon the waters, by way of food, shelter and protection, comes back in prodigious measure and how nature's dear little crop wardens, the birds, eat a bit of the farmer's seeds and rob him of a few pennies thereby, but how they return dollars and dollars by destroying the pests that devour his crops.

And while there was the utilitarian aspect to the teaching, there was the humanitarian, which never will be lost, for the boy and the girl with hearts full of love and care for the birds will be the man and the woman with broadened sympathies for all humanity.

And another pretty indication is shown in the building of bird houses in cities where they had scarcely thought of before.

It was a few years ago that the superintendent of public schools in St. Cloud, Minn., while walking through one of the city parks, noticed several dead birds scattered about. And as he passed on to other parks and other sections of the city he found the same mute little tragedies—blue birds, robins, wrens, orioles, all bearing marks of a violent death, all left by the wayside where they had fallen. He wondered, and at first could think of no answer to the problem, but one day as he stood looking at a lifeless bird, he saw a boy sauntering along with a sling shot in his hand. And there was his answer—which one thinks he might have guessed before. Not that the boys of St. Cloud were cruel at heart, just thoughtless.

The next problem was what to do about it, for the superintendent, having been very much of a boy himself, realized that threats, lectures, punishments or mild talks would be alike ineffective. The grim little weapons were confiscated—but of what avail was that with a full supply in reserve?

Then a suggestion came from the supervisor of manual training that the boys be interested in the making of bird houses, a plan which took very well with the teachers but not so well with the boys. The first year one little house was all that was made, but superintendents and all bided their time, and the third year, the boys became interested, and not a boy in the manual training classes who did not contribute one or more houses to be tenanted later on. As each house was completed—there were 200 in all—and passed the critical eye of the supervisor, it was placed in a tree, and the boys carefully watched for the tenants. Sometimes it would be only a question of hours before there would be a mighty peeping of curious bird-eyes into the new quarters, a scurrying of wings and a few anxious looks, when the Newlyweds would gravely twist their heads in approval and with a gay little chirp or two would show that the house was gratefully accepted for the season. And what boy could be found to sling a stone straight into the heart of a bird to whom he had offered a home?

The question was solved, the boys were delighted, and they defended, where before they had slaughtered. And besides, many beautiful birds that alighted for a brief look at St. Cloud paused to make it their home for the summer.

Kansas City has made a beginning in the way of protecting bird life and of luring the feathered strangers casting about for safe places in which to make their homes. Thousands of bird houses will soon throw open their doors and their windows, coaxing inviting all sorts of bright and sober-coated tenants to tarry the summer through and to enliven the air with their glad bursts of song.

There's Meriden, N. H., too, with its hosts of houses and its pretty retreats and sanctuaries, where the little winter stay-at-homes are snug and warm and well fed, and where the gay summer varieties are sure of a welcome.

And there are the Boy Scouts adding their mite all over the country. From Beaver Falls, Pennsylvania, comes the story of the young Scouts who, in the coldest weather, secured a quantity of grain and started out for a full day of work, erecting shelter and leaving food as they went. And in Pittsburgh they hung suet on trees, scattered grain, built shelters and learned that the lovely bits of color that flit about through the air and the sweet songs that thrill the summer long are royal gifts from the hand of the great Maker of the world, and that it is the proud part of boys to protect them.

But there's room for many another house, and abundant need for greater protection, need, too, for the spirit that makes us all want to protect the least of defenseless creatures.

The small politician is not usually noted for his polish. There is a story told by Senator Pomeroy of Ohio concerning a group of politicians who were brought into a city before convention to do some organizing. The reception committee escorted them from the station to their hotel and apologized because there were not many facilities.

"We tried to get your suite of rooms with a bath," apologized the head of the reception committee, "but we were unable to do it."

"Thunder!" exclaimed one of the politicians, "why, that don't make a particle of difference!"

"What?" gasped the chairman of the committee.

"John! John!" wrathfully cried the minister, "you'll see and you'll go to a place where you'll hear no sermon, long or short."

To Whom It May Concern: Greeting:
I, PALMER CANFIELD, JR., Mayor of the City of Kingston, N. No. 867, entitled, "An act to amend chapter seven hundred and forty-seven of the laws of eighteenth hundred and ninety-six, entitled, 'An act to revise and consolidate the several acts in relation to the City of Kingston, to revise the charter of said city and to establish a city court therein and define its jurisdiction and powers,' generally," will be held and afforded before the Mayor and the Common Council of the City of Kingston, N. The bill amends the City Charter generally in that it changes the fiscal year from January first to December thirty-first inclusive, instead of being from December first to November thirtieth inclusive, as it is at the present time, and in that it provides for the payment of school taxes in August of each year instead of at the time of the payment of the general taxes, and in that it provides for the payment of city taxes other than school taxes in February of each year, and in that it provides for the appointment of a board of public works to consist of four members to be appointed by the Mayor and also the Mayor, which board will have jurisdiction over the streets, sewers and parks, etc., of the city, and in that it provides for the appointment of a board of gas and electricity to consist of three members to be appointed by the Mayor, which board will have jurisdiction over the city public lighting, etc., and in that it provides for the appointment by the Mayor of a secretary whose duties are to assist in the various city departments in the City Hall as the Mayor designates, etc., and in that it abolishes the office of deputy city clerk and in that it consolidates the present city court and the present recorder's court, and provides for only one court for both civil and criminal jurisdiction to be known as the city court, and provides for the appointment of the city judge by the Mayor, and the appointment by the city judge of a clerk who shall be a stenographer and of a person to act as probation officer and marshal, etc., and in that it provides for the election of an alderman-at-large, who is voted for throughout the city, and who presides at the meetings of the common council and who exercises the duties of an alderman except that he votes only in case of a tie vote, the person to be elected in November, 1914, to hold office for only one year, and his successors for two years, and in that it provides for the payment to the alderman for attendance at each meeting of the common council the sum of five dollars, beginning January first, nineteen hundred and sixteen, and in that it changes the name of the Alms Board to the Board of Charities, and the name of the Alms House to City Home, and in that it changes and amends other provisions and sections of the present city charter.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the City of Kingston, N. Y., to be affixed this sixth day of April, 1914.

KINGSTON, N. Y., APRIL 9, 1914.

Advocates of woman suffrage who are necessarily disgusted with the support given by Chicago women to the notorious "Bath House" Coughlin are trying to comfort themselves and "save their face" by referring to the fact that sixteen counties in Illinois which have heretofore been "wet," voted "dry" Tuesday. They attribute this to the female vote. There is no way to produce proof either one way or the other, but the theory is greatly weakened by the fact that on the same day seventeen "wet" counties in Nebraska went "dry." This went Illinois one better, and women do not vote in Nebraska. If one really wants to argue from such silly premises, he must reach the conclusion that men alone are slightly more favorable to prohibitive legislation than are men and women combined.

The fair political weather of the Wilson administration's first year seems to have been a storm breeder. Tuesday's special elections in the Seventh New Jersey and the Twelfth Massachusetts congressional districts are regarded as stinging rebukes to the administration, which will surely be followed by the election of a Republican House of Representatives. The psychological effect of these elections will naturally be to strengthen the backbone of the anti-Wilson forces in Congress. This change of feeling will be exhibited when the treaty just negotiated between the United States and Colombia comes up for ratification. The treaty virtually apologizes to Colombia and pays that country $25,000,000 indemnity on the ground that the secession of Panama was instigated by President Roosevelt. We don't know whether the Colonel was guilty or not. He says he wasn't, but he also said once that he "looked" the canal zone, whatever that may mean. Anyway, the official branding of a former President of the United States as a thief and filibuster will not be accomplished without a sizable row.

Additional returns show that the majority in favor of the Constitutional Convention was much smaller than appeared at first. It is now evident that it would have been beaten overwhelmingly but for the influence of Boss Murphy, who felt that he was fighting for his political life. The same result would have been achieved if the newspapers and political leaders throughout the rural sections of the State had taken as much interest in the issue as The Freeman did. After all, the election was carried by the use of money. Murphy had plenty of it with which to pay workers, while the other side had no campaign fund. This is the weak point of the initiative as well as of the referendum. The ordinary man will sign almost any petition if he is asked to do so by hired canvassers, and the same man will not take the trouble to go to the polls unless some hired promoter urges him. Consequently, the side able to hire the greatest number of agents will win in most cases. It is a ghastly joke that devices calculated to enable rich men to thwart the popular will and their principal advocates among professed friends of the "peepul."

President Wilson's "watching and waiting" policy in Mexico has run against another snag. Seven hundred Spanish subjects exiled by Villa have already arrived in Texas, and many hundreds more will follow them just as soon as that chieftain can catch them. Secretary Bryan sent a "telegram of inquiry" to Carranza and received a reply saying that "Gen. Villa is perfectly justified in his action in driving out these obnoxious persons, and his act is in accordance with our laws." This is about as impudent as could well be. The law provides that "pernicious foreigners" may be deported, just as they may be from all countries, but it is legally necessary to first prove the charge of perniciousness. The Spanish Government and people are naturally enraged over this matter, but they are not in a position to do anything about it, any more than Great Britain was in the Benton case. The impression is growing that Huerta is about the whitest man of prominence in Mexico, in spite of all his faults. The initial folly of refusing to recognize him is having the result of creating rancor throughout the civilized world against the United States.

PROTECTION TO BIRDS.

(By Our Woman Editor.)

Within the past year or two a very decided tendency has been shown toward an effective movement to protect the bird life of America.

It has been indicated by rigid national laws designed to save migratory wild fowl and plumage birds and in other ways, all showing a public and private awakening in behalf of the feathered creatures of the air and the tree tops.

For the first time, two states, Arkansas and Oklahoma, set aside the third day of this month as "Bird day," and from one end of those states to the other concerted effort was made to arouse big and little citizens alike to the beautiful truth that protection offered to birds means not only more money in the coffers of farmers and so on to the rest of folk, but more kindness in human hearts.

In schools, particularly, lessons upon love and sympathy for the shy, sweet little songsters were taught, together with more practical instruction upon the economic relations of bird to man. Children were shown how bread cast upon the waters, by way of food, shelter and protection, comes back in prodigious measure and how nature's dear little crop wardens, the birds, eat a bit of the farmer's seeds and rob him of a few pennies thereby, but how they return dollars and dollars by destroying the pests that devour his crops. And while there was the utilitarian aspect to the teaching, there was the humanitarian, which never will be lost, for the boy and the girl with hearts full of love and care for the birds will be the man and the woman with broadened sympathies for all humanity.

And another pretty indication is shown in the building of bird houses in cities where they had scarcely thought of before.

It was a few years ago that the superintendent of public schools in St. Cloud, Minn., while walking through one of the city parks, noticed several dead birds scattered about. And as he passed on to other parks and other sections of the city he found the same mute little tragedies—blue birds, robins, wrens, orioles, all bearing marks of a violent death, all left by the wayside where they had fallen. He wondered, and at first could think of no answer to the problem, but one day as he stood looking at a lifeless bird, he saw a boy sauntering along with a sling shot in his hand. And there was his answer—which one thinks he might have guessed before. Not that the boys of St. Cloud were cruel at heart, just thoughtless.

The next problem was what to do about it, for the superintendent, having been very much of a boy himself, realized that threats, lectures, punishments or mild talks would be alike ineffective. The grim little weapons were confiscated—but of what avail was that with a full supply in reserve? Then a suggestion came from the supervisor of manual training that the boys be interested in the making of bird houses, a plan which took very well with the teachers but not so well with the boys. The first year one little house was all that was made, but superintendents and all bided their time, and the third year, the boys became interested, and not a boy in the manual training classes who did not contribute one or more houses to be tenanted later on. As each house was completed—there were 200 in all—and passed the critical eye of the supervisor, it was placed in a tree, and the boys carefully watched for the tenants. Sometimes it would be only a question of hours before there would be a mighty peeping of curious bird-eyes into the new quarters, a scurrying of wings and a few anxious looks, when the Newlyweds would gravely twist their heads in approval and with a gay little chirp or two would show that the house was gratefully accepted for the season. And what boy could be found to sling a stone straight into the heart of a bird to whom he had offered a home?

The question was solved, the boys were delighted, and they defended, where before they had slaughtered. And besides, many beautiful birds that alighted for a brief look at St. Cloud paused to make it their home for the summer.

Kansas City has made a beginning in the way of protecting bird life and of luring the feathered strangers casting about for safe places in which to make their homes. Thousands of bird houses will soon throw open their doors and all sorts of bright and sober-coated tenants to tarry the summer through and to enliven the air with their glad bursts of song.

There's Meriden, N. H., too, with its hosts of houses and its pretty retreats and sanctuaries, where the little winter stay-at-homes are snug and warm and well fed, and where the gayer summer varieties are sure of a welcome.

And there are the Boy Scouts adding their mite all over the country. From Beaver Falls, Pennsylvania, comes the story of the young Scouts who, in the coldest weather, secured a quantity of grain and started out for a full day of work, erecting shelter and leaving food as they went. But there's room for many another house, and abundant need for greater protection, need, too, for the spirit that makes us all want to protect the least of defenseless creatures.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ON LEGISLATIVE BILL AMENDING CHARTER OF THE CITY OF KINGSTON.

To Whom It May Concern, Greeting:
I, PALMER CANFIELD, JR., Mayor of the City of Kingston, N. Y., hereby give NOTICE that a PUBLIC HEARING concerning the Bill passed by the Legislature of the State of New York, being Senate Bill Printed No. 1004, Int. No. 867, entitled, "An act to amend chapter seven hundred and forty-seven of the laws of eighteenth hundred and ninety-six, entitled, 'An act to revise and consolidate the several acts in relation to the City of Kingston, to revise the charter of said city and to establish a city court therein and to give the jurisdiction and powers generally,' will be held and afforded before the Mayor and the Common Council of the City of Kingston, N. Y., at the Common Council Chamber, in the City Hall, in said city, on the 10th day of April, 1914, at 7:30 o'clock p. m., of that day, and all persons may then and there be heard concerning the same.

The bill amends the City Charter generally in that it changes the fiscal year from January first to December thirty-first inclusive, instead of being from December first to November thirtieth inclusive, as it is at the present time, and in that it provides for the payment of school taxes in August of each year instead of at the time of the payment of the general taxes, and in that it provides for the payment of city taxes other than school taxes in February of each year, and in that it provides for the appointment of a board of public works to consist of four members to be appointed by the Mayor and also the Mayor, which board will have jurisdiction over the streets, sewers and parks, etc., of the city, and in that it provides for the appointment of a board of gas and electricity to consist of three members to be appointed by the Mayor, which board will have jurisdiction over the city public lighting, etc., and in that it provides for the appointment by the Mayor of a secretary whose duties are to assist in the various city departments in the City Hall as the Mayor designates, etc., and in that it abolishes the office of deputy city clerk and in that it consolidates the present city court and the present recorder's court, and provides for only one court for both civil and criminal jurisdiction to be known as the city court, and provides for the appointment of the city judge by the Mayor, and the appointment by the Mayor of a clerk who shall be a stenographer and of a person to act as probation officer and marshal, etc., and in that it provides for the election of an alderman-at-large, who is voted for throughout the city, and who presides at the meetings of the common council and who exercises the duties of an alderman except that he votes only in case of a tie vote, the person to be elected in November, 1914, to hold office for only one year, and his successors for two years, and in that it provides for the payment to each member of the common council the sum of five dollars, beginning January first, nineteen hundred and sixteen, and in that it changes the name of the Alms Board to the Board of Charities, and the name of the Alms House to City Home, and in that it changes and amends other provisions and sections of the present city charter.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the City of Kingston, N. Y., to be affixed this sixth day of April, 1914.

The Grand Promoter

A Stranger Plays Him a Low Down Trick

By M. QUAD

Copyright, 1914, by Associated Literary Press

There was some one outside of Major Crofoot's office door. A knock, knock, knock. "Come right in!"

"I'm looking for the Major Crofoot that has all sorts of good things to invest in," said the caller.

"Then you have come to the right place. Have a chair."

"Thanks. Now, then, I don't wish to take up your valuable time. Have you got anything good on hand? I want something perfectly safe that will return 9 or 10 per cent on the money."

"My dear sir, I have got half a dozen of the best things going. When you speak of 9 or 10 per cent dividends it makes me smile. I don't deal in such small fish. Anything I take hold of must pay 30 per cent or I drop it."

"Good Lord!" ejaculated the caller as he sat up.

"Thirty per cent at least, sir. What would you say to stocks paying dollar for dollar?"

"But I'm willing to take 40 per cent," replied the man. "Gee whiz, but what man can ask for more than that?"

"Very fair, very fair," loftily replied the major, "but nothing to brag of. Being you have come direct to the office I want to pick out something extra. Let me see. The Universal Glass Eye company paid 60 per cent dividends two years ago, but last year dropped down to 30. It will be still less than that this year on account of hard times. Lots of one eyed people stick a patch over the eye and let it go at that. If you'd come in a month ago I could have let you in on the ground floor of the Magic Rat and Mouse Destroyer. The stock went like wildfire, and the last was sold at $200. We figure it will pay 400 per cent dividends for the next twenty years."

"And I can't get in. Thunder, but why didn't I know about it! But you must have something for me," insisted the caller in anxious tones.

"Let me see! Let me see! How absentminded I am this morning. Just as you knocked I was making up the incorporation papers for my last and best scheme. It's one that'll lay over all others. I was saving it to begin the year on."

"Good, good! What is it? By George, old fellow, if you put me on to something good you shan't lose by it!"

"You know what delicacies turtle soup and turtle steak are considered?"

"I do."

"And you know the high price frogs' legs bring?"

"Yes."

"Well, that's the basis of the Great Western company, just organized. We are going to rent nine square miles of Lake St. Clair and raise our frogs and turtles and can them on the spot. They will be canned in champagne, and the labels on the cans will be handsome enough to frame and hang in any one's parlor. Three turtle steaks and two dozen frogs' legs every can. Killing and canning take place every day. We shall control the market of the world."

"What dividends do you figure on?"

"Well, last night I was figuring on a straight 100 per cent, but this morning I thought I ought to make a little allowance. Many turtles die of homesickness, you know, and a certain per cent of the frogs are bound to jump the wire fences and get away. To be very safe and conservative I have put the dividends at 95 per cent. I think that is a rather neat figure, don't you?"

"Great! Great Scott, I've been lending money at 6 per cent!"

"How—how much were you thinking of investing?" asked the major in a voice that trembled in spite of himself.

"Twenty thousand dollars perhaps."

"And you—you will pay something down to secure the stock?"

"A hundred dollars. Here's a check I'll endorse over to you, and I'll come in tomorrow and pay the balance and get the stock. By George, but I'm in luck! Just think of getting hold of something paying 95 per cent dividends! Why, my wife will think me crazy when I tell her about this. You won't let Morgan buy the whole thing up and freeze me out, will you?"

"No. You shall have the stock."

"And I'll remember you. I'll buy you a pearl pin out of the first dividend. If you want, when you get started, I'll show you how to catch frogs for canning. There's a peculiar way of getting hold of them by one hind leg. Ninety-five per cent! I can't help but dwell on it!"

"Yes, it's a good thing," replied the major as he shoved the folded check into his vest pocket in a careless way. "You will be in tomorrow?"

"Sure, Mike! If I was a Frenchman I'd kiss you for luck, but as I'm not we'll shake hands and I'll say ta, ta. Tomorrow! Ninety-five per cent! Whoop!"

When he had gone the major walked up and down to calm his ringing heart. It didn't seem possible. He couldn't credit his good luck. Then at last he took the check from his pocket and looked at it to see what bank it was drawn on. His eyes opened wide, and he uttered a moan and staggered to a seat.

It was drawn in favor of "A. Sucker," indorsed by "Another Sucker" and signed by "Uncle Rubie."

Then the light went out, and the grand promoter bowed his head and knew the bitterness of the green perdition.

HIGHLAND.

Highland, April 8.—Several from here attended the cantata given in Christ Church, Poughkeepsie on Tuesday evening and were well pleased.

Mrs. Fred Metcalf had a jolly party of young people at her home Monday afternoon. It is her custom to entertain her Sunday school class very often and they certainly do enjoy her hospitality.

There will be an entertainment in Feeter's Hall on April 16. Mr. Kierman has been here before. Perhaps those who heard him then will want to hear him again for he is good.

Another dance will be held in Feeter's Hall in the near future. Frank Koons spent some time here recently, as he is enjoying his Easter vacation.

Mrs. J. C. Dedrick of New York city was the guest last week of Capt. and Mrs. R. H. Decker.

Miss Laura Palmer left on Wednesday for an out of town visit. The W. C. T. U. met Thursday afternoon with Mrs. T. Abrams, on Church street. Several young girls gave musical selections.

Henry Ehrlichson was a business visitor in Kingston the past week. Dr. Flakely was initiated in the mysteries of the O. U. A. M. Tuesday evening. He is very much alive to tell the tale but the doctor went through and the goat was gentle with him, for he being a M. D. his patients, perhaps, were taken in consideration by the famous goat.

Vassar Chapter, O. E. S., of Poughkeepsie had their last Friday evening. They had an official visit of their D. D. G. M. and A. G. L.

Highland Chapter, O. E. S., have an invitation for the official visit of grand officers at Catskill on Thursday evening, April 9.

William Whitmore of the New Paltz trolley line, has been ill several days.

Highland people are again disgusted by the state road officials having to make another survey. As things go, some think the idea of having a state road built might as well be abandoned. Certainly some one ought to be made to do something for people tire of this constant put off.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerlich entertained guests from out of town Sunday.

Frank Palmer is quite a piano salesman. He has recently disposed of two fine instruments, and if there are others who contemplate in the future the purchase of a piano for a gift we would advise them to give the word to Palmer. He is the one who will serve you O. K.

Mrs. Terwilliger of White street had as her week end guest Mrs. Deborah DeGraff of Milton.

Mr. Arwater is very ill at the home of Mrs. Terwilliger on White street.

Mrs. Leo Prasse of Maple avenue, who has spent some time in New York city, is now at her home here. She enjoyed her visit greatly, also sight seeing and amusements.

The W. C. T. U. held its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. T. Abrams on Church street Thursday. There was a very good attendance.

The business and pleasure combined was very enjoyable.

Miss Allie Pratt entertained the Society of P. E. O. at her home recently. She is one of the members of this society.

Mr. and Mrs. John O'Brien, who reside at Bailey's Gap, are the happy parents of a baby boy. We trust it has taken up the O'Brien home for a permanent residence.

Our friend Isaac Aldrich has invested in a Ford touring car from Mr. Bloomer, of the Highland garage.

May Goldsmith of New York city is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. Goldsmith, who are now living on White street.

Charles Eckert of Poughkeepsie spent Saturday with relatives here.

Edward Townsend is at home now. He has been in New York for a few months and graduated from the trade school there, and his many friends are glad to have him here again. They were quite lost without him.

DeWitt Clearwater of this place has a fine position with the A. V. Haight printing establishment in Poughkeepsie. He is an all around man, fine workman and has been in the printing business for years and is honest and upright in all his dealings, which is a grand recommendation for any one.

Walter Constable from this place has a position in Poughkeepsie with the Moline Plow Company. It seems so many of our men are employed in Poughkeepsie, but one can not blame them, for if they can get better wages it is to their interest to look out for No. 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Zopher Terwilliger have moved from Main street to Maple avenue.

Miss Laura Palmer is entertaining a lady friend from out of town. The ladies are enjoying themselves as it is Easter vacation.

The drama given Friday evening last by the high school people was good, everyone taking their parts splendidly. They had a good attendance and realized a good sum from their efforts and taking it from all standpoints it was favorably received. The Seniors were very highly complimented and the boys' chorus was greatly enjoyed by every one.

Harry Schumacher of New York city has been on a trip through the west. This he greatly enjoyed. He is a jolly fellow and is the sporting editor of the New York Evening Mail. He was a guest of friends on Vineyard avenue the latter part of the week.

Livingston Rhodes is now a busy fellow assisting E. F. Cummings in the grocery store. Livey is just at home behind a horse, still he is more accustomed to the automobile, and later on we will see him enjoying that as roads get better.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hopper are now in their new home on Llanow avenue. They lived some time, on White street.

Hyman Dobbs from Walden was a guest of relatives here the past week.

People here regret greatly the departure of Miss Grace Francis, Miss Ethel Decker and Miss Mabel Townsend, all teachers in the high school. They have resigned and will leave in September for Ossining, where they have secured fine positions as teachers at a much higher salary. They will be greatly missed in church and social work as well as by the pupils who all became very fond of them. We wish them success in their new field of labor.

J. P. Whitley, with a friend, has purchased another farm on Vineyard avenue. He is a very successful business man and whatever he undertakes he makes a go of it.

J. W. Feeter and Howard Wilcox were some of the people from this place who attended conference in New York city last week.

The M. E. Church choir loft is being enlarged. The work is being done by William Coutant and assistants. It will give more room for the singers and will be a great improvement to the interior of the church. It is expected to be finished for Easter.

Mrs. George Pratt had as her guests the past week her mother and sister from New Paltz.

Miss Jennie Dusenberry, who has been in the store of W. E. Wilcox & Son for some time, has resigned. She will be missed for she was very courteous to the people.

George Pratt, Sr., expects to visit through the west soon for an extended trip. He will have Augusta Pratt, his granddaughter, to go also. They are planning to visit relatives in Alaska.

Teachers are now looking for good places to teach next fall and winter. There will be changes in the high school here.

Eastern Stars held their regular meeting Monday evening.

Katie Main, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Main, Sr., of Washington avenue, who died Sunday morning last, had been in poor health a long time. Still at times she was out for her daily walks. She will be greatly missed by the family, for she was a great care. Her friends around here will miss Katie for she was every one's friend. The funeral was held Tuesday at 2:30 from the house. Rev. G. Schofield preached a fine sermon. The flowers were beautiful and in profusion from relatives and friends. The sympathy of all is given to the sorrowing parents, sister and brothers. Interment in Highland Cemetery under direction of W. E. Wilcox.

The Ladies' Auxiliary Club held their regular meeting in the M. E. Church parlor last Friday with over 40 members present. Miss Cassels was a guest. Their forces were increased by the addition of four new members, Mrs. C. H. Ganse, Mrs. G. W. Rose, Mrs. George Coutant and Mrs. Robert Cummings. The hostesses of the afternoon were Mrs. DeWitt Clearwater, Mrs. George Davis, Mrs. Harry Dobbs and Mrs. I. Dayton. These people surely were thoughtful of the inner man's supply, for their refreshments were bountiful and substantial. At the social hour Mrs. Blakely and Miss Olga Davis delighted all with piano solos and four hand selections, which were greatly enjoyed and appreciated.

The club met in a very flourishing condition and the social gatherings of every month are looked forward to with pleasure, as the first Friday in every month is Auxiliary Day.

On account of the greatly increasing business of the post office there is not nearly room enough and it is expected that in the near future it will be greatly improved and the whole floor of the building will be occupied. It is contemplated arranging toilet rooms and other conveniences. Over ten times the business is done in this office that was done ten years ago. Twenty-five years ago there was only four trips for the mail messenger between the office and the West Shore depot; now there are seven and each pouch weighs at least three times what they did then. Before the starting of the West Shore road there were only two mails daily which went by the way of Poughkeepsie. Nothing shows the increasing importance of this village more than the increase of the business in the post office. The present postmaster, Mr. Clearwater, is very popular and gives his entire attention to the business. He has two young lady clerks, Miss Daisy Bilbey and Miss Eckert, who thoroughly understand the business and have many friends.

After several years of dispute between the trolley road and town regarding the building of the state road from the landing to the village, everything has at last been settled and work will be commenced at once. Indeed, men are now making arrangements to go to work the first of next week. The work will be finished from the landing to Maple avenue in front of Cashdollar's hotel first so that there will be as little obstruction as possible where there is no parallel road. It is hoped that the whole road will be completed this season.

The outside of Dean's hotel at the landing has been tastefully painted by Fred Rose of Poughkeepsie.

Lee Anderson has moved from Oakes to the brick house near Dean's hotel.

Barry Witbeck and father will move to Poughkeepsie.

Mrs. Lydia Labarron, who has been seriously ill, is improving. She is 95 years old, yet is very active and when it is pleasant walks to church every Sunday.

The churches are making extensive preparations for Easter. In the Methodist Church there will be extra fine music morning and evening. Not only the Methodists but the entire community are rejoicing on account of the return of their beloved pastor, the Rev. George Davis.

Washing White Paint.

When your white paint is yellow and dirty, don't wash with soap; take a handful of common whitening and stir smooth about a pint of water; then wipe all around with this. You will need a bowl of clean water and a cloth with which to wipe all around again. When treated in this way paint will be really white, not yellow, and places that have been marked badly will scarcely show when dry.

Flames are raging in the northwestern section of the city, many buildings having been set on fire by bursting shells. Several oil wells are reported to be burning.

Scores of foreigners have taken refuge on the battleships of the United States, England, France, Germany and Spain. The flight of the nationals to the war vessels began late last night.

The Mexican gunboats have been firing shells into the attacking rebels, but when the assaulting troops gain a foothold in the city the gunboats will be unable to operate because of the danger to foreigners who have thus far been unable to get away.

It is reported that Rear Admiral Mayo, the American naval commander, has notified the leaders of the contending forces that the first intimation of danger to the foreigners will result in United States Marines being landed to protect lives and property.

American refugees are being taken on board the Chester, Des Moines and Dolphin, to be transferred later to the Connecticut and Minnesota, which are lying at the mouth of the Panuco river, six miles from the city. Rear Admiral Mayo is directing operations from the Dolphin. He held a long conference last night with Rear Admiral Craddock, the British commander. Later he sent a wireless despatch to Vera Cruz asking that the liner Morro Castle be sent to Tampico to take the refugees aboard.

POPE SENDS OUT EASTER MESSAGE

By Telegram to The Freeman.

London, April 9.—The Standard today prints the following Easter message from Pope Pius X to the world:

"The message of the church to the world at Easter is the eternal one. It is this:

"Christ has risen." But, though the message is an old one, it has its application always to the newest events. Hence it is a message which always has a new force.

"Christ rose to bring peace to the world. It is thus the duty of his followers to strive to bring about peace. I pray and desire that all should pray that this Easter may bring peace to all the world.

"In our mind there rises first of all the thought of two regions of the earth which most of all at the present time stand in need of this blessing, the Balkans in the old world and Mexico in the new world. May Easter bring them peace. May all who control the destinies of nations work to this end and with this peace may there come inspiration into the minds of all men, and especially of all rulers, that their ideal which alone is a guarantee of universal peace should be instaurare omnia in Christo (to build everything on Christ)."

Worth Knowing.

There are 315 ways of changing a quarter of a dollar. The pieces used are the 20-cent piece, ten-cent piece, five-cent piece, three-cent piece and the one-cent piece. To make all these changes without using the same coin twice would require 1,238 one-cent pieces, 614 twos, 378 threes, 184 ves, 59 tens and nine twenties, making 3,584 pieces, worth $53.75.

STOP

Coffee Drinkers,
And think a minute!

Some persons seem able, for a time at least, to get along with coffee, but it contains a subtle, habit-forming drug, caffeine, which sooner or later is pretty sure to rob one of health and comfort.

If you know coffee don't harm you—if you feel prime and fit under its continued use, well and good—stick to it.

But—if you are sometimes a bit "off color," and irritable nerves, disturbed heart action, biliousness, headache, or symptoms of liver or kidney trouble make you wonder what's the matter—

Better find out what coffee has to do with it.

Evidently some people are learning the truth about coffee—listen—

POPE SENDS OUT EASTER MESSAGE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, April 9.—The Standard today prints the following Easter message from Pope Pius X to the world:

"The message of the church to the world at Easter is the eternal one. It is this:

"Christ has risen." But, though the message is an old one, it has its application always to the newest events. Hence it is a message which always has a new force.

"Christ rose to bring peace to the world. It is thus the duty of his followers to strive to bring about peace. I pray and desire that all should pray that this Easter may bring peace to all the world.

"In our mind there rises first of all the thought of two regions of the earth which most of all at the present time stand in need of this blessing, the Balkans in the old world and Mexico in the new world. May Easter bring them peace. May all who control the destinies of nations work to this end and with this peace may there come inspiration into the minds of all men, and especially of all rulers, that their ideal which alone is a guarantee of universal peace should be instaurare omnia in Christo (to build everything on Christ)."

Worth Knowing.

There are 315 ways of changing a quarter of a dollar. The pieces used are the 20-cent piece, ten-cent piece, five-cent piece, three-cent piece and the one-cent piece. To have all these changes without using the same coin twice would require 1,288 one-cent pieces, 614 twos, 378 threes, 184 ves, 59 tens and nine twenties, making 2,584 pieces, worth $63.78.

STOP

Coffee Drinkers,

And think a minute!

Some persons seem able, for a time at least, to get along with coffee, but it contains a subtle, habit-forming drug, caffeine, which sooner or later is pretty sure to rob one of health and comfort.

If you know coffee don't harm you—if you feel prime and fit under its continued use, well and good—stick to it.

But—if you are sometimes a bit "off color," and irritable nerves, disturbed heart action, biliousness, headache, or symptoms of liver or kidney trouble make you wonder what's the matter—

Better find out what coffee has to do with it.

Evidently some people are learning the truth about coffee—listen—

During 1913 the sales of coffee in this country decreased over one hundred million pounds

A mighty army of former coffee drinkers now use and enjoy freedom from their old coffee aches and pains.

Postum, made of whole wheat and a bit of molasses, is a delicious table beverage absolutely free from the coffee drugs, caffeine and tannin.

If you are interested in bettering yourself—think it over!

Postum now comes in two forms.

Regular Postum—must be well boiled. 15c and 25c packages.

Instant Postum—a soluble powder, requires no boiling. 30c and 50c tins.

The cost per cup of both kinds is about the same.

"There's a Reason" for Postum

The Atharhacton Club met on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Miss Louise Van Hoesen on Wall street. The afternoon's session was opened with a discussion of current topics. The program for next week's study was read and found to be full of interest. The open meeting which the club had hoped to give a little later this spring was indefinitely postponed. It was voted to postpone also the last meeting of the club to one week from next Tuesday, April 28, at which time the election of officers will take place and choice of paper topics decided upon. The place of this meeting will be announced later. Miss Adams had the paper for the day, summing up the year's study of Ireland under the subject of "Irish Characteristics." The various characteristics of the Irish temperament, depth of emotion, affection, flashing humor, impetuosity, belligerence, cordial hospitality and superstition were well put forth by means of story and anecdote, making the paper one of peculiar interest and one might well add entertainment.

About the Charity Ball.

The Hon. Andrew J. Cook is chairman of the dance committee of the coming Charity Ball to be given at the armory on the evening of Friday, April 17th, for the benefit of the charity ward of the Benedictine Sanitarium. In accordance with the latest decree of Dame Fashion, there will be no dance orders for this dance, but the floor committee will see to it that the dancing itself is just as delightful as it possibly can be. Dr. Mary Gage-Day, chairman of the coming ball asks that all members of the Ladies' Auxiliary who receive tickets through Mrs. Murphy, chairman of the ticket committee, report to Mrs. Murphy before Saturday, April 11, whether or not they intend to be patrons. On Tuesday afternoon a meeting of the supper committee was held at the home of Mrs. Dwyer, chairman of that important committee. Judging from the reports turned in by the ladies on this committee, relative to food supplies, the supper with its salads, sandwiches, cake, ice cream, coffee, chocolate and tea will be simply delicious. No set price has been put upon the supper, but the charming young ladies who serve the guests will collect a silver offering for the refreshments they serve. Mrs. Shaw and a bevy of more charming young ladies will have charge of the lemonade and its service. And a dance always necessitates lemonade. Miss Anne A. Heaney assisted by Mrs. Palmer Canfield Jr. and Mrs. John W. Howley will preside over the flower and cigar booth, and the odor of fragrant flowers will vie with that of fragrant smoke from the cigars. So it will be seen that the coming Charity Ball promises everything that can be counted on to give an evening of pleasure to those in attendance, who will by that attendance, in turn give comfort and wherever possible restored health to those less fortunate than themselves.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, April 9.—A weak tone prevailed in the stock market at the opening today and the trend of prices was toward lower levels. Canadian Pacific followed its London lead opening at 199 1/4 for a loss of 1/4. The opening price represented a decline of 2 1/2 from the high mark of yesterday. Canadian Pacific was freely supplied and at the end of twenty minutes it had increased its decline to 1/2. Mexican Petroleum was under pressure as a result of news of rebel operations in the Mexican oil fields. This stock began 1/4 lower but soon was selling 1 1/2 below Wednesday's final. Bethlehem Steel was about the weakest of the specialties both the common and preferred falling 1/4 on small sales. New York, New Haven and Hartford, was off 1/4 in the initial trading but at the end of half an hour had increased its net loss to 1 1/4. Texas Company was another weak feature among the specialties, falling 1 1/2. Western Union, Norfolk and Western, Tennessee Copper and Goodrich were among the few issues which gained fractionally. Amalgamated Copper opened higher but lost its gain and declined 1/4. Among the other losses were: Corn Products refining, 1/4; United States Steel Common, 1/4; People's Gas, 1/4; American Car and Foundry, 1/4; Distillers Securities, 1/4 and American Smelting, 1/4. The curb was heavy. Americans in London were irregular. There were feverish fluctuations in Canadian Pacific in London.

Throughout the afternoon most interest was attracted to the Rock Island issues. The four per cent bonds sold around 33 1/2, while the common stock shaded off to 3, a new low record, and the preferred also fell. Pressure was directed against a number of issues while at times there was a slight demand for others which gave the list an irregular appearance. In the last hour steel sold at 75 1/4 for a fractional loss from the midday price. Other stocks which yielded from their noon quotations were Reading, Lehigh Valley, Texas Company and the Harrimans. The market closed steady. Governments unchanged; other bonds steady.

Quotations furnished by John D. Kling, Broadway and Strand, Kingston, N. Y., Tel. 93. Correspondent of C. H. Van Buren & Company, members of Consolidated Stock Exchange of New York.

Atharhacton Club.

The Atharhacton Club met on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Miss Louise Van Hoesen on Wall Street. The afternoon session was opened with a discussion of current topics. The program for next year's study was read and found to be full of interest. The open meeting which the club had hoped to give a little later this spring was indefinitely postponed. It was voted to postpone also the last meeting of the club to one week from next Tuesday, April 28, at which time the election of officers will take place and choice of paper topics decided upon. The place of this meeting will be announced later. Miss Adams had the paper for the day, summing up the year's study of Ireland under the subject of "Irish Characteristics." The various characteristics of the Irish temperament, depth of emotion, affect, flashing humor, impetuosity, intelligence, cordial hospitality and superstition were well put forth by means of story and anecdote, making the paper one of peculiar interest and one might well add entertainment.

About the Charity Ball.

The Hon. Andrew J. Cook is chairman of the dance committee of the coming Charity Ball to be given at the armory on the evening of Friday, April 17th, for the benefit of the charity ward of the Benedictine Sanitarium. In accordance with the latest decree of Dame Fashion, there will be no dance orders for this dance, but the floor committee will see to it that the dancing itself is just as delightful as it possibly can be. Dr. Mary Gage-Day, chairman of the coming ball asks that all members of the Ladies' Auxiliary who receive tickets through Mrs. Murphy, chairman of the ticket committee, report to Mrs. Murphy before Saturday, April 11, whether or not they intend to be patrons. On Tuesday afternoon a meeting of the supper committee was held at the home of Mrs. Dwyer, chairman of that important committee. Judging from the reports turned in by the ladies on this committee, relative to food supplies, the supper with its salads, sandwiches, cake, the breads, coffee, chocolate and tea, will be simply delicious. No set price has been put upon the supper, but the charming young ladies who serve the guests will collect a silver offering for the refreshments they serve. Mrs. Shaw and a bevy of more charming young ladies will have charge of the lemonade and its service. And a dance always necessitates lemonade. Miss Anne A. Heaney assisted by Mrs. Palmer Canfield Jr., and Mrs. John W. Howley will preside over the flower and cigar booth, and the odor of fragrant spring flowers will vie with that of fragrant smoke from the cigars. So it will be seen that the coming Charity Ball promises everything that can be counted on to give an evening of pleasure to those in attendance, who will by that attendance, in turn, give comfort and wherever possible restored health to those less fortunate than themselves.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, April 9.—A weak tone prevailed in the stock market at the opening today and the trend of prices was toward lower levels. Canadian Pacific followed its London lead opening at 199 3/4 for a loss of 1/4. The opening price represented a decline of 2 1/2 from the high mark of yesterday. Canadian Pacific was freely supplied and at the end of twenty minutes it had increased its decline to 1/4. Mexican Petroleum was under pressure as a result of news of rebel operations in the Mexican oil fields. This stock began 1/4 lower but soon was selling 1 1/4 below Wednesday's final. Bethlehem Steel was about the weakest of the specialties both the common and preferred falling 1/4 on small sales. New York, New Haven and Hartford, was off 1/4 in the initial trading but at the end of half an hour had increased its net loss to 1 1/4. Texas Company was another weak feature among the specialties, falling 1 1/4. Western Union, Norfolk and Western, Tennessee Copper and Goodrich were among the few issues which gained fractionally. Amalgamated Copper opened higher but lost its gain and declined 1/4. Among the other losses were: Corn Products refining, 1/4; United States Steel Common, 1/4; People's Gas, 1/4; American Car and Foundry, 1/4; Distillers Securities, 1/4 and American Smelting, 1/4. The curb was heavy. Americans in London were irregular. There were feverish fluctuations in Canadian Pacific in London.

Throughout the afternoon most interest was attracted to the Rock Island issues. The four per cent bonds sold around 33 1/2, while the common stock shaded off to 3, a new low record, and the preferred also fell. Pressure was directed against a number of issues while at times there was a slight demand for others which gave the list an irregular appearance. In the last hour steel sold at 75 1/4 for a fractional loss from the midday price. Other stocks which yielded from their quotations were: Reading, Lehigh Valley, Texas Company and the Harriman. The market closed steady. Government securities unchanged; other bonds steady.

Carlyle and London's Noises.

No one has ever inveighed against the noises of London with such picturesque emphasis as Thomas Carlyle. When Augustus Hare met him for the first time at a dinner given by Lady Marian Alford most of Carlyle's conversation ran upon the sufferings attached to a London residence. "That which the world torments me in most," he moaned, "is the awful confusion of noise. It is the devil's own infernal din all the blessed day long, confounding God's works and his creatures—a truly awful hell-like combination, and worst of all is a railway whistle, like the screech of 10,000 cats and every cat of them as big as a cathedral." Against this diatribe may be set the fact that Carlyle spent the last forty-seven years of his life in London without any compulsion to live there.

Helping His Temper.

The sun was blinding, clouds of dust were blowing everywhere, and Jones was most decidedly off his game. It really "put the lid on it" when, just as he was struggling to play his ball out of a quarry, a benevolent old lady passed by with a companion. She batted in evident surprise and pointed with her umbrella at the earnest golfer. "Dear me, my love," she remarked in audible tones, "what a very respectably dressed man that is breaking stones!"—Argonaut.

He Admired Her Judgment.

She—Oh, Fred, dear, you are so noble, so generous, so handsome, so chivalrous, so much the superior of every man I meet, I can't help loving you. Now, what can you see in plain little me to admire? He—Oh, I don't know, dear, but you certainly have very good judgment.—London Tit-Bits.

She Knew.

The teacher had given the class a talk on household pests. "What, now, is the greatest foe the housewife has?" he asked. Up went one little hand. "All right, Mary, what is it?" "A husband," came the quick reply.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Carlyle and London's Noises.

No one has ever inveighed against the noises of London with such picturesque emphasis as Thomas Carlyle.
When Augustus Hare met him for the first time at a dinner given by Lady Marian Alford most of Carlyle's conversation ran upon the sufferings attached to a London residence. "That which the world torments me in most," he moaned, "is the awful confusion of noise. It is the devil's own infernal din all the blessed day long, confounding
God's works and his creatures—a truly awful hell-like combination, and worst of all is a railway whistle, like the screach of 10,000 cats and every cat of them as big as a cathedral." Against this din Carlyle spent the last forty-seven years of his life in London without any compulsion to live there.

Helping His Temper.

The sun was blinding, clouds of dust were blowing everywhere, and Jones was most decidedly off his game. It really "put the lid on it" when, just as he was struggling to play his ball out of a quarry, a benevolent old lady ably dressed man that is breaking stones!"—Argonaut.

ble, so generous, so handsome, so chivalrous, so much the superior of every

EIGHT HOUR DAY MIXES THINGS UP

Progress on New High School Retarded by Union Rule That Adversely Affects Other Union Men—No Question of Wages Involved.

Owing to the fact that the laborers employed on the construction work of the new high school have complained to Mayor Canfield that they have been forced to work nine hours a day instead of eight hours a conference was held, attended by George T. Kelley of Yonkers, who has the contract, President William C. DeWitt and Superintendent M. J. Michael, of the board of education, and Mayor Canfield to see what could be done in adjusting the complaint.

The whole question hinges on the fact that all the work on the high school is union work. The laborers claim that they have been forced to work nine hours a day since they went on the job and that under the law all municipal work shall be done in an eight hour day. Although the laborers have been paid by the hour for all the work they have done and consequently have received more money by working the nine hours a day than they would if only working eight hours a day, still they believe that they should only work eight hours, as the job is a union job.

The question would not be such a serious one and could be easily adjusted if it was not for the fact that if the laborers work only eight hours instead of nine hours a day it will interfere with the work of the masons and bricklayers on the job. The question vitally affects the masons and bricklayers for if the laborers only work eight hours a day it will mean that the masons and bricklayers instead of working the full eight hours a day will only be able to put in seven hours a day and of course they seriously object to losing one hour of work a day.

With the laborers working nine hours it means that when the bricklayers and masons come on the job in the morning the laborers have enough material ready so that they can go right at the job without losing any time. It takes the laborers about half an hour in the morning to get material ready for the masons and bricklayers and it takes the laborers about half an hour at the close of the day to clean up and get things in readiness for the next day's work. This is where the nine hours a day comes in for the laborers who go to work half an hour earlier in the morning than the other men on the job and work half an hour later.

The whole matter will be thoroughly thrashed out at the conference and it is likely that some satisfactory solution of the difficulty will be reached.

Hofmann's Life of Christ.

Holmann, the celebrated German historical painter, owes his great popularity to his idealistic paintings of the life of Christ. Some of his most famous paintings are the show pieces in the great galleries of Europe. Among the most widely known are "Christ Taken Prisoner," "Darmstadt," "The Adress Before Christ," "Dresden," "Christ's Sermon on Lake Gennesaret," Berlin; and "Christ in the Temple," Dresden. Copies in color of his series of masterpieces covering the life of Christ will be shown by the aid of the Balopticon at the Rondout Presbyterian Church on Sunday evening. A cordial welcome extended to all.

Ministerial Meeting.

The next meeting of the Kingston Ministerial Association will be held on Monday, April 13, next, at the Y. M. C. A. building at 12 o'clock. The speaker will be the Rev. R. A. Waite, whose subject will be "The Church and the Boy." Each pastor is asked to invite lay-workers among boys to attend this meeting. It is also asked that all who intend to attend this meeting and take lunch at the association building, so notify Mr. Starkey. This meeting will take the place of the regular meeting of the twentieth.

Fun Brewing.

There is a lot of real fun brewing among the young men of St. John's Church, who are rehearsing for their minstrel show which they will give at the parish house on the evenings of Friday and Saturday, April 24 and 25. T. R. Richards is coaching the young men whose wit and pleasantries is being sharpened on both edges. Then there will be several musical numbers which promise to be exceptionally good, as it is understood that the full quota of performers is now under training.

Touching.

A teacher trying to impress on her children the rightness of kindness toward all animals, took them for a walk, to bring the lesson home to them. Hearing a scream from little Johnny, she asked: "What's the matter, Johnny?" "I've been sitting on a hornet," was the tearful response, "and I'm afraid I've hurt the poor thing."—Delineator.

Mineral Salt Not Necessary.

Herman Melville found the Marquesas islanders perfectly healthy; there were no invalids among them, and there was no salt, but such as the girls gathered from the sea—as a luxury to be enjoyed by a chief—at a pinch. Apparently a healthy life can be lived upon only such salt as is supplied by the vegetables the earth affords.

Hofmann's Life of Christ.

Holmann, the celebrated German historical painter, owes his great popularity to his idealistic paintings of the life of Christ. Some of his most famous paintings are the show pieces in the great galleries of Europe. Among the most widely known are "Christ Taken Prisoner," Darmstadt; "The Adulteress Before Christ," Dresden; "Christ's Sermon on Lake Gennesaret," Berlin; and "Christ in the Temple," Dresden. Copies in color of his series of masterpieces covering the life of Christ will be shown by the aid of the Balaioptic at the Rondout Presbyterian Church on Sunday evening. A cordial welcome extended to all.

Ministerial Meeting.

The next meeting of the Kingston Ministerial Association will be held on Monday, April 13, next, at the Y. M. C. A. building at 12 o'clock. The speaker will be the Rev. R. A. Walte, whose subject will be "The Church and the Boy." Each pastor is asked to invite lay-workers among boys to attend this meeting. It is also asked that all who intend to attend this meeting and take lunch at the association building, so notify Mr. Starkey. This meeting will take the place of the regular meeting of the twentieth.

Fun Brewing.

There is a lot of real fun brewing among the young men of St. John's Church, who are rehearsing for their minstrel show which they will give at the parish house on the evenings of Friday and Saturday, April 24 and 25. T. R. Richards is coaching the young men whose wit and pleasantry is being sharpened on both edges. Then there will be several musical numbers which promise to be exceptionally good, as it is understood that the full quota of performers is now under training.

Touching.

A teacher trying to impress on her children the rightness of kindness toward all animals, took them for a walk, to bring the lesson home to them. Hearing a scream from little Johnny, she asked: "What's the matter, Johnny?" "I've been sitting on a hornet," was the tearful response, "and I'm afraid I've hurt the poor thing."—Delineator.

Mineral Salt Not Necessary.

Herman Melville found the Marquesas Islanders perfectly healthy; there were no invalids among them, and there was no salt, but such as the girls gathered from the sea—as a luxury to be enjoyed by a chief—at a pinch. Apparently a healthy life can be lived upon only such salt as is supplied by the vegetables the earth affords.

Rives Sells Country Estate.

Reginald W. Rives has sold his beautiful country estate "Carnwarth" at New Hamburg to Isaac Untermyer, a brother of Samuel Untermyer. Mr. Rives will make his home in New York. For many years Mr. Rives was active in agricultural affairs in Dutchess county.

The Manufacturer's Short Cut to Sales

Local dealers are awakening to the advantage of co-operating with manufacturers who assist them in making a market by advertising in the newspapers of their towns.

This very pulling-together spirit goes a long way towards making sales.

The response to this newspaper advertising is direct and highly profitable. No money is wasted in making a market where there is no distribution.

Manufacturers interested in newspaper advertising are invited to write the Bureau of Advertising, American Newspaper Publishers Association, World Building, New York. Booklet on request.

VERDICT SET ASIDE BY JUSTICE RUDD

tends that the questions were for the jury, that the court properly considered and stated plainly to the jury that such questions were for the jury to determine, and that the rule as to defendant sustaining the burden of proof under his allegations of false representations by which defendant was induced to accept the option, was correctly and clearly stated to the jury.

We are left, therefore, to consider the motion as made by the plaintiff to set aside the verdict not because under the proof the court might consider that the plaintiff is entitled to a verdict, but because and only for the reason that the verdict as rendered is not in accordance with the controlling weight of evidence, in other words that the court reading carefully all of the evidence, with opportunity to consider and weigh it, giving force and effect to the whole of such evidence, including that presented in the form of records and writings, as well as the oral testimony, would be led to the conclusion that the verdict is against the evidence.

The opportunity thus to consider the evidence is not given to a jury. Their verdict must result largely from impressions, some of which may be justified and others not. That verdicts are not always in accordance with the weight of evidence is not a reflection necessarily upon the motive or intelligence of a jury; that body does not have the opportunity to weigh the effect of written instruments, to analyze and measure the force of the expressions contained in letters, and to offset one bit of evidence as against another, as is given to the court, when an opportunity affords to read the record of the trial.

The provisions of the code under which the motion to set aside the verdict is made, contemplates just the condition to which reference has been made, as well as to that situation which sometimes results when the verdict seems to be the product of what is referred to as passion or prejudice.

The option signed by the plaintiff on January 31st, 1912, was prepared by Mr. Borland, attorney for defendant, and delivered to Mr. Tucker for the purpose of securing plaintiff's signature. The acceptance of the option was dictated by Attorney Borland, acting for defendant, which acceptance was signed by defendant.

The letter of Mr. Borland, "Pliff's Ex. E," indicates that at that time it was considered that it would be to the advantage of defendant to have these options in his control, thus, if possible, preventing the creditors of the Cuba Contract & Supply Company from interfering with payments due to the defendant in Cuba.

The defendant's reason, as stated at the time of the offer of the options, for not taking up these options and paying the money due thereon, was, as the evidence shows, because Reilly declined to release the defendant from an indemnity bond. Whether this was a good reason or not, this was the reason given by defendant.

Mr. Tucker was paid by the defendant five hundred dollars for services in obtaining the options for defendant.

Whatever the allegation in the original complaint, the evidence shows that Tucker was defendant's agent, and the original complaint was amended by order of the court on the first trial so that the allegation in that regard might conform to the proof.

Any deceit by Tucker as such agent would not be that of the plaintiff.

The question as to Tucker's agency could not have been determined under the evidence by the jury to the effect that Tucker was acting as plaintiff's agent for the evidence does not sustain such a determination.

Before the plaintiff signed the offer to sell to the defendant the claim which he had, the defendant and his attorney, Mr. Borland, knew of the receivership of the Cuba Contract & Supply Company. The defendant bore such relations to the Cuba Contract & Supply Company and had such knowledge of it and its condition, and was so concerned in and by its financial complications and situation, that he knew and must have known as shown by the evidence all of the claims outstanding against the company.

The defendant has failed to sustain the burden of proof in showing that plaintiff made any representations whatsoever upon which defendant relied in January, 1912, when the option was made.

At the time the letter of January 31st, 1912, was written in addition to the claim of Adrian Vermeule and the Eddy Valve Company, which the defendant had made no arrangement to purchase, there were as appears by the record in the New Jersey Chancery Court a claim of Edward P. Davis for one hundred dollars, Joseph Hover for two hundred and seventy dollars and claim of the Corporation Trust Company of New Jersey for twenty-five dollars.

It was for the defendant to prove that the plaintiff knew of these claims, of which the defendant was ignorant, that plaintiff concealed such knowledge from the defendant, that he knowingly misled him, with an intent and purpose of deceiving him. Such is not the evidence.

The defendant has written in a frank and in more or less of a confidential manner, that he had actually obligated himself formally and in writing to make the payment to this plaintiff provided for in the option and in its acceptance.

Plaintiff had only one interview with defendant in July, 1911, and the evidence shows that neither the defendant nor his attorney ever conferred or communicated with plaintiff again until long after the making of the contract of January 31st, 1912.

The defendant did not rely upon the alleged representations of July, 1911, that the claims under discussion were all of the claims against the Cuba Company, for the defendant admits that that chapter of the transaction was closed under the advice of his attorneys, Brosmith & Borland.

The proof shows that in regard to alleged representations made by plaintiff to defendant in July, 1911, that defendant agreed to purchase the claim of plaintiff because he had agreed to pay this claim or settle it, for the reason that defendant was anxious to prevent plaintiff from interfering with defendant's collection of money in Cuba, and for the reason further that Judge Reilly and Congressman Sullivan advised him so to do.

A serious question arises, it seems to this court, as to whether or not the writing of January 31st, 1912, made up of the option and its acceptance, does not show a contract complete on its face which cannot be altered or changed or varied by parole evidence.

The recent decision of Studwell v. Bush Company, 206 N. Y., 416, reaffirming the doctrine laid down in 127 N. Y., 133, is illuminating upon this subject.

Whether that is controlling it is not for this court now to say. This trial has been had, and the rulings have been made and the same are subject to review by a higher tribunal.

It does not seem that the court would be justified in granting the motion here made by the plaintiff for a direction of a verdict, nor for the setting aside of the verdict because of alleged improper conduct on the part of the jury, but it is clearly in the opinion of the court, as the result of a careful review of the evidence, its duty to grant the motion of the plaintiff to set aside the verdict as against the evidence.

An order may be entered by the plaintiff to that effect.
